SYNOPSIS

FOXES

The Beautiful Fox in Nature and Fables

This exhibit has been prepared to provide general knowledge regarding the types, habitat, behavior, and legends of foxes.

The exhibit commences with descriptions of the various types of foxes found in many parts of the world and the adaptation of the foxes to their particular habitat.

Next, the exhibit describes the hunting and survival techniques of various foxes and their primary prey.

The exhibit describes the natural animal predators and the practice of fox hunting.

Next, the formation of fox families and rearing of young is presented followed by typical behavior patterns.

The exhibit concludes with a presentation of foxes in legends and modern cartoons.